Big twist in Cobblers' rescue fight

Northampton Borough Council has lodged a petition for the administration of Northampton Town Football Club, in a bid to buy more time for the club to be rescued.

The winding-up petition against the club for £166,000 of unpaid taxes is due to be presented at High Court next Monday, which could place the club into liquidation.

The local authority will appear in court to oppose liquidation and explain its proposals to the judge, but it would be up to the judge to decide whether or not to allow an adjourn-

The council's representatives recently held discussions with Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, who have 'indicated that they are unwilling to delay or adjourn this action'.

As a result, a petition for administration has been lodged which would have precedence over the HMRC action, and could prevent the club being put into liquidation.

The move is to allow the club more time to conclude a deal with former Oxford United chairman Kelvin Thomas, who is poised to take over the club.

The petition will not result in a points deduction for the club by the Football League. Last night at the meeting of the council's Cabinet it was announced there will be a special meeting to discuss the results of the current situation

Britain's worst speeding offender has been jailed after filming himself driving at 192mph on country roads across Northants.
Shaun Davis, 42, of Woodpecker

Drive in Northampton, was accused of driving dangerously between 2012 and 2014 in BMWs and Audis on single and dual carriageways in the county. Police found mobile phone footage of him driving after arresting him for an unrelated matter

He denied 12 counts of dangerous driving, arguing it wasn't him in the videos, but was found guilty of four charges of driving at speeds of between 150mph and 192mph, on roads such as the A5 and A45.

He was sentenced to 28 months in jail and given a 10 year driving ban. His daughter Jordan Davis, 23, of Hove Road, Rushden, was found guilty of inciting or encouraging an offence of dangerous driving.

Detective Inspector Greg Maides, from the East Midlands Special Operations Unit, said the videos showed Mr Davis 'driving grossly in excess of the maximum national speed limit with no regard for the safety of other motorists...

Editor's Letter

A local legend in sport and news has passed away . . .

By the time your read this I will have, if everything has gone to plan, paid my respects to one of Northamptonshire journalism's local legends – Terry Morris.

Terry did two of the trickiest jobs you could ask for at the Chron when it was an evening paper – he was simultaneously on the newsdesk and he wrote about the Saints.

Ideally a man in such a position should be possessed of vast resources of tact and diplomacy. Terry incredibly managed to pull it off without either.

Instead he deployed a fearless but fair-minded honesty and genuinely called it as he saw it – whether it made him popular or not.

I became News Editor at the Chron while Terry was deputy – his responsibilities covering the Saints preventing him from taking the senior role which in a de facto sense was his.

If someone left, the message in their leaving card was famously brief and Anglo-Saxon

He was like the grizzled veteran sergeant next to the callow youth of my captaincy. He barked orders at the reporters because he knew instinctively what I have now come to learn – you must treat reporters like dogs.

Terry had a number of rules he stuck to pretty rigidly in his dealings with colleagues.

If someone left, his message in their leaving card was famously brief and Anglo Saxon.

He also unilaterally refused to accept the existence of the word 'refurbished' because how can something be RE-furbished when there is no such word as furbished?

Without doubt Terry was one in a million and although not born and bred in Northampton he was a unique voice in our media that will never be replicated.

When journalism has no-one left in it but bland and inoffensive TV wannabes, it will be people like Terry that we are missing.

Bieber joins in bus station gag

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

The global superstar appeared on Carr's Channel 4 show last Friday, to talk about his comeback to the music industry after a year-long break.

After talking about his upcoming album, Purpose, the 21-year-old was questioned about his emotional performance of his chart-topping single 'What Do You Mean' at the VMAs.

Justin confessed he was 'crying like a little schoolgirl' at the end of his performance, which earned him a standing ovation, and that 'I was really nervous and just wanted it to go well'.

At this point, the Chatty Man host turned Bieber's attention towards a television screen to show him an 'upsetting' video montage to see if he could make him cry again.

The video featured stills of JLS, who split up in 2013, and a Woolworths store before the retail giant closed down in 2009.

But the picture which gained the biggest reaction from Bieber, was of Northampton's former Greyfriars bus station in Alan's hometown being blown up. The picture of the station, which dominated the Northampton skyline for nearly 40 years before being demolished in March this year, prompted the singer-songwriter into a strong reaction.

into a strong reaction.
Confronted with the picture of the once-dubbed 'Mouth of Hell' Justin suddenly threw himself over the arm of the sofa he was sitting on and started pretending to be sick.

The funny move by the Canadian left Alan and his audience in hysterics.

Rape reports third highest in country

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Rape reports in Northants have almost doubled in five years – but the number of prosecutions has fallen by a third.

The figures have been released in a new report by Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC), which show in the last year there were 289 incidents of 'adult rape' reported to Northants Police - almost double the 155 reported in 2010-11.

Also according to the report, released last Thursday, the number of child rape cases in the last financial year (2014-15) stands at 138, up 38 from the 100 reported in 2010-11.

Meanwhile, 43 defendants faced prosecution last year, with just 11 being convicted, compared to 65 prosecutions and 16 convictions in 2010.

Combining the figures, Northants now has the third highest rape reports in England and Wales, sitting behind Hampshire - which has the second highest - and London.

Below the county, Greater Manchester has the fifth highest rape reports, followed by Nottinghamshire and Cleveland.

Reacting to the report, Northants Police's head of crime, Detective Superintendent Steve Lingley, said the increase in recorded rape offences is 'a mark of the increased confidence of victims to come forward'.

tims to come forward'.
He added: "There is currently a multi-agency review taking place looking at the nature and scale of sexual offences in Northants. The findings, which will be reported next month, will help us engineer an appropriate partnership response."

MP 'upset' over the Cobblers' loan saga

Northampton South MF David Mackintosh has admitted on BBC show Sunday Politics that he feels partly responsible over the unpaid £10.25 million loan to the Cobblers.

The MP appeared on the East region version of the show last Sunday, where he told presenter Stewart White that he feels 'very uation surrounding Northampton Town FC. Mr Mackintosh, who was the leader of Northampton Borough Council when he approved the loan to the club for the redevelopment of Sixfields stadium in 2013. said: "I am very frustrated and upset that actually what was supposed to be about stabilising the club and making sure that they were able to prosper and grow in the future has not materialised. There are a lot of questions to be answered." As for whether he was satisfied enough due diligence was carried out, he replied: "Yes, obviously it is one of the concerns when looking at a huge amount of public money that you make sure the deal is done in a way that safeguards that

£19k invoices in club's name

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

The architect who designed Cobblers chairman David Cardoza's family home was told to invoice for the drawings under the title 'Northampton Town Football Club:

Design concept plans'.

The H&P last month reported that Mr Cardoza's luxury new sixbedroom house in Church Brampton had been left half-built, and that the builders had quit the site.

But it has since been discovered that the architect hired by 1st Land Ltd – a firm con-tracted by the Cobblers to oversee redevelop-ment of Sixfields stadium - to draw up designs of the new house, was told to title invoices for the plans under the same name as the football

The invoices, by architect Stuart Loxton, totaled £18,500, of which £14,000 was for the planning work and £4,500 was for the building regulations

Mr Loxton, who was employed to put together the designs in February 2014, said all the invoices were paid on time, but that in August, when he that in August, when he was more than halfway through the building designs, he was suddenly told to stop work immediately by 1st Land Ltd's director, Bushey-based businessman Howard Grossman

Mr Loxton said: "I was about 80 per cent through the building regulations when I was told to stop, as there was some sort of between dispute Grossman and Cardoza.

However, despite the designs not being fully completed, work on building the house started later on.

The house, which Mr Loxton predicts would have cost around £1 million to build, would have lion to build, would have included an indoor swimming pool, gym, cinema room, games room and a tennis court. Although the project was managed by Mr Grossman, on two occasions Mr Letters with sions Mr Loxton met with Mr Cardoza and his wife to discuss the plans.

"I was having meetings with David and his wife at their old house, and we were speaking quite reg-ularly about the design – how everything was going to be done.

"It was going to be a replacement home. They had already lived on the site - they had a house there. But then that was knocked down and they were renting a house down the road while the replacement house was

CHEQUE THIS OUT: Eight lucky shoppers will win £500 each to spend in Northampton town centre

All gold with £4,000 draw for lucky shoppers

Shoppers in Northampton have even more reason to celebrate this Christmas as town centre shops and businesses rally together to award £4,000 of shopping vouchers to eight lucky winners.

This year, for the third year running, the Northampton town centre Business Improvement District (BID) is running its Golden Ticket campaign, which will see eight shoppers awarded with £500 each of shopping vouchers of their choice, £250 of which must be spent at an independently owned business.

The BID's Golden Ticket Prize Draws will run throughout

December and winning tickets will be selected every Monday, on Novemmber 23 and 30, and December 7 and

To be in with a chance of winning all shoppers have to do is complete a Golden Ticket entry form, available at all town centre businesses and on the BID website, and then post the entry form into one of the BID's five specially branded Golden Ticket post boxes – located in the Grosvenor Centre, Market Walk, Market Square News, Gold Street Mews and the Royal & Derngate.

Each post box will be emptied every Monday ahead of the draw

The assistant director of children's services at Northamptonshire County Council is paid more than her boss and her boss' boss.

Palvinder Kudhail is part of the team charged with turning round the beleaguered children's services department of the county council, which had been rocked in recent years by critical inspection reports.

However it has emerged that Ms Kudhail's expertise last year cost NCC £252.663.78, paid to Palvinder Kudhail Associates - a company which is listed as 100 per cent owned by Ms Kudhail with no employees.

Chancellor George Osborne has announced his intention to rein in the use of personal services companies and 'offpayroll' arrangements for remunerating public services staff.

He is concerned that it is being used as a way of avoiding 45 per cent income tax and paying 20 per cent corporation tax instead.

The Government has fined the NHS and MOD for having too many people paid on that basis.

However professionals who might work for a number of employers on a consultancy basis operate as a personal services company to simplify managing their finances.

There is no suggestion Ms Kudhail is trying to avoid tax. A spokesman for Northants

A spokesman for Northants County Council said: "We keep a tight review of all off-payroll expenditure and only allow those appointments with a solid business case to continue and only for as long as it is absolutely necessary. We also have robust processes in place to ensure that employees pay appropriate tax. The county council is on an improvement journey for our children's services and so it is vital that we have the right leadership and staff in place to tackle this."

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK Be an ideas merchant

Lawrence John

Northants Herald & Post reporter Lawrence John writes a weekly blog for the paper and this is the latest. You can read his and a selection of other blogs at www. northampton-news-hp.co.uk

Ideas come out of left field like the proverbial fly ball, and all you gotta do is catch them. You hear the crack as the ball hits the bat and it zings out across the field, going up in the air high wide and handsome, waiting for it be plucked out of its flight and caught in your glove. Ideas are a loose connection of thoughts, some merely fragments but others congeal together to become one solid idea which encompasses all you have been thinking about. Much like an ideas jelly.

Your idea will sit there in the bowl fully mounded and if you have used a nice mould it will have a pretty pattern – maybe a rabbit design.

Ideas for me present themselves like a plot complete with narrative but I still do not understand where it comes from.

Maybe ideas come out of the ether or magical inter connective pathways in the brain which compute, cogitate and blast out images and words to form an idea.

Sometimes I think I should be an ideas merchant. I should open up a little shop, not too grand, just enough for customers to say 'oh look, what a good idea!'

I would sell ideas. Words and pictures on rolled up scrolls of paper.

You would say you need an idea and I would tell you I have different levels of ideas you can have:
• Half baked

- Not thought throughAct in haste and repent at leisure
- The Sam Burgess this is where you cannot see the wood for the trees, you get dazzled by the lights, smoke and mirrors and to be honest it is never going to work out. But it looks good one would argue in a league of its own
- I did not know what I was thinking and I just panicked
- The Mourinho, which is a blank piece of paper and has nothing on it no idea, no comment

 • It seemed a good idea
- on paper

 This is foolproof
- Deluxe and bespoke an idea to encompass and fit all sizes.

They would have the warning: "Ideas can work just as much as they can fail. A certain degree of what we in the business like to call 'face' may be lost if a good idea blows up and turns into a right stink. Buyer beware." What an idea this could be!

I should open up an ideas shop, customers can say oh look, what a good idea!

Open empty buildings for homeless people

This week the Northants Herald and Post reported that an online petition has been launched calling for Northampton Borough Council to follow in the footsteps of former Manchester United stars Gary Neville and Ryan Giggs, by opening up empty buildings to homeless people.

Here are how our readers reacted on Facebook:

CHRIS LAMBERT: It's a great idea. But who foots the bill for the heating and lighting in these buildings??

DANIEL KNIGHT: This is amazing. My dream is to see homelessness as a thing of the past, and one day I know it will be. Shouldn't be like this in this day and age

The huge haul of clothes and other essential items have been donated over the past few months, and last week they were sorted and boxed up ready to be distributed across the channel.

The sorting session took place on Wednesday at St Anne's church in Northampton town centre, where around 15 occupational therapy and community development students and volunteers from the community gave up their time.

The initiative is being coordinated by senior lecturer in the School of Health, Father Timothy Curtis, with assistance from executive officer, Nick Allen. Tim said: "I would like to give my heartfelt thanks to all the students, Nick Allen, staff and the community volunteers who sorted. listed and packed the items. The aid is already on its way to Greece.

"But our work will continue, with plans to take our students to Calais, and in the longer term, as a community we will be helping refugees when they arrive in Northampton, helping them to settle.

Shock and awe as

'Police, stand still, don't move' shouted officers as they broke open the door and stormed into a flat.

But such strong-arm tactics were not required at all the places visited on this particular raid. At another flat it was just a case of pull-ing a handle and entering Checking the door to see if it is open is one of the first, and admittedly most obvious rules of MOE – Method of Entry. This was all part of what could be described as shock and awe in Northamptonshire.

The calm before the storm came about 20 minutes earlier when a small briefing room at force headquarters was jam packed with around 25 police officers and another ten outside in the hall, being told who, what and where they were about to be heading off to.

Everyone knew who was in each of the three teams and who would be going to the first, second and third floor flats. A group of criminals were on the brink of receiv-

Say Goodbye To Nerve Pain

There are three types of nerves in the body: 1. Autonomic nerves. These nerves control the involuntary or partially voluntary activities of your body, including heart rate, blood pressure, digestion, and temperature regulation.

2. Motor nerves. These nerves control your movements and actions by passing information from your brain and spinal cord to your muscles.

3. Sensory nerves. These nerves relay information from your skin and muscles back to your spinal cord and brain. The information is then processed to let you feel pain and other sensations.

Because nerves are essential to all you do, nerve pain and damage can seriously affect your quality of life.

What Are the Symptoms of Nerve Pain and Nerve Damage?

With nerve damage there can be a wide array of symptoms. Which ones you may have depends on the location and type of nerves that are affected. Damage can occur to nerves in your brain and spinal cord. It can also occur in the peripheral nerves, which are located throughout the rest of your body.

Autonomic nerve damage may produce the following symptoms:

- Too much sweating or too little sweating
- Lightheadedness
- Dry eyes and mouth
- Constipation
- Bladder dysfunction
- Sexual dysfunction

Damage to motor nerves may produce the following symptoms:

Weakness

- Muscle atrophy
- Twitching, also known as fasciculation
- Paralysis

Sensory nerve damage may produce the following symptoms:

- Pain
- Sensitivity Numbness
- Tingling or prickling
- Burning
- Problems with positional awareness

In some instances, people with nerve damage will have symptoms that indicate damage to two, or even three, different types of nerves. For instance, you might experience weakness and burning of your legs at the same time. To further complicate matters we don't all develop the same way and different un-expected nerves can cause similar problems. This has made it very difficult to diagnose disorders caused by nerve damage based on which nerve "should" cause what.

That is, until now...

Recent advances in technology that detects nerve damage has led to more precise diagnosis for those people suffering with nerve damage disorders.

And more precise diagnosis leads to better results... results which have been published in major medical journals. With data published in 2014 showing success rates as high as 90% some back surgeons are recommending their patients try this treatment first before having back surgery (for nerve damage that leads to back pain and sciatica).

Student flies 6,000 miles for research

A University of Northampton undergraduate has gone to great lengths to carry out research for his dissertation - jetting more than 6,000 miles to the Amazon rainforest.

Third year Environmental Science student, Thomas Grant, spent three weeks in Manu National Park, Peru, with the British Exploring Society researching the effects of altitude on butterfly populations in the rainforest

For the summer expedition Thomas roughed it in the untamed jungle, sleeping in a hammock suspended between trees and losing all sense of time

'The experience was just amazing and reaffirmed what I have felt for a few years

- that I don't want to spend my life sitting at a desk, I want to be working in the field," said Thomas, who comes from Wheathampstead, Hertfordshire.

"To be able to say I went to Peru to research my dissertation is something few people can say, and I feel very privileged to have worked there.

I had a theory that butterfly populations are affected by altitude, and my research backed this up."

Boat firm rocked by redundancies

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

The owners of a troubled Northants-based yacht-builder have warned of a 'significant number of redundancies' as they battle to keep the company afloat.

Fairline Boats, which has bases in Oundle and Corby, made the announcement this week, a month after it was bought by private equity firm Wessex Bristol.

Following the takeover, it was announced that a third of its workforce – 109 of its 465 staff – would be laid-off for four weeks while it 'assessed the business'. the business'.

has already begun a consulta-tion period with staff about possible redundancies.

The 52-year-old business also announced it is seeking agreement from its creditors for a Company Voluntary Arrangement to help it 'restructure' its debt.

A Fairline spokesman said: "Since last month's acquisition of Fairline Boats Limited, Britain's leading luxury yacht manufacturer, new owners Wessex Bristol Investments have taken significant steps in moving the company back towards profitability. "The company has made a recent announcement regard-which has involved the business entering into a collective consultation period with staff.

"This will enable Fairline to right-size its operations to better reflect the marketplace environment, thereby permitting the business to operate efficiently. Regrettably this process is expected to result in a significant number of redundancies.

"Nonetheless, it is a process entered into in the best interests of the business' key stakeholders, namely the creditors and employees, in an attempt to safeguard as many British jobs as possible, in both the present and the future.

Man flashed boy in woods

A man indecently exposed himself to a 15-year-old boy walking his dog in a Northampton wood, just two days before a 42-year-old woman was also flashed at in the same area.

The first incident happened last Friday, when a 15-year-old boy was walking his dog through the park and spotted a man hiding in the trees.

The man then walked behind him, and when the boy stopped to let him past, the man exposed himself to the boy.

The second incident hap pened last Sunday. A 42-yearold woman was walking her dogs in Lings Wood when she was approached by a man who asked for the time and a cigarette.

He then pulled down his tracksuit bottoms and exposed himself.

In both incidents the man is described as Asian, in his 20s, around 5ft 7in and slim built.

'Best ever' Diwali fest lights up town

Northampton town centre was lit up in bright colours last Friday night during the 'best ever' Diwali festival.

Hundreds of people packed the streets for the annual event, which included a number of dance and cultural performances representing different regions of India. The celebrations started with stalls in the Market Square, followed by dance performances and then the procession,.

Residents tidy up mountain of litter

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A group of residents and councillors got together to clean up an area of Northampton which has been left strewn with litter.

Last weekend, Labour coun-cillor Cllr Rufia Ashraf, and some local residents litter picked in St James and, in just several hours, disposed of nearly 16 bags of rubbish. Cllr Ashraf, who organised the litter pick, said: "I was pleased with the turnout and what we achieved in such a small amount of time. If everyone disposed of rubbish properly, the environment would be cleaner and more enjoyable for everyone.

"Just like other parts of the town residents of St James have also been complaining about high levels of litter and rubbish on their roads and streets. With high levels of fly streets. With high levels of Hy tipping on street corners and alleyways they are fed up of complaining to the council.
"I asked residents to sign a petition calling on the council to deliver a better service on bin collection days to ensure rubbish left behind is picked up on the same day and for the roads to have a deep clean quarterly.

Lest we forget

Northampton town centre fell silent last Sunday as the town honoured the country's military heroes on Remembrance Day. Proceedings began at 9.30am with The Northampton Pipe Band leading a march to All Saints Church, which included former and current service personnel.

A service was held at All Saints Church at 10am before a two-minute silence was then held at 11am to the sound of the Last Post, as hundreds of people who had gath ered in the town paid their respects.

Are you getting the best deal on your holiday money?

Your holidays are one of your biggest expenses each year, so why do so many people not shop around to get the best rates on their holiday money!

Many people don't realise that the difference between the best and worst holiday money providers can be huge. There is one golden rule to follow to ensure you don't lose out. Don't leave it too late and buy at the Airport or your Holiday Hotel, these are some of the worst rates on the market and you can end up with a lot less holiday money as a result.

With very little effort on your part you can easily find the best rates in your area.

We looked at the exchange rates for Euros in Northampton to see just how the best and worst compare.

We looked at Eurochange, The Post Office, High St Banks and the newest Foreign Exchange in town operated by Cash-a-Cheque (UK) Ltd.

If you purchased £500 worth of Euro on Wednesday 11th November this is what you would have received.

Foreign Exchange by Cash-a-Cheque

Eurochange

Barclays 666.25 Euro
HSBC 674.25 Euro
The Post Office 673.55 Euro

695 Euro

681.45 Euro

The best by far were the new Foreign Exchange by Cash-a-Cheque who are located next to HSBC on Abington Street, Northampton. They were giving over 13 Euro more than the next best who were Eurochange and incredibly over 28 Euro more than Barclays.

The Foreign Exchange by Cash-a-Cheque had this to say,

"We operate a group of Foreign Exchange shops with a very simple policy, we ensure we have the best rates in town for all the currencys we buy and sell each and every day. Our friendly and Knowledgeable staff are there to help you and ensure you get the best deal in town. We check all our competitors every day to ensure our exchange rates for both buying and selling currency are the best in town. All our exchange rates are commission free so there are no hidden charges just great rates and service".

So if you're going abroad on holiday or business, give Foreign Exchange by Cash-a-cheque a call on 01604 629 555 or check their website Cash-a-Cheque.com

All that glitters is glam for 70s stomping gig

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

Three of the greatest, most exuberant, live bands of the 70s are teaming up for Glitz, Blitz & 70s Hitz, coming to Royal & Derngate on Tuesday, November 17.
The glitz and Glam of the 1970s will be brought back to life in a concert which brings together Sweet, Mud 2 and The Rubettes

It was the era which had it all - glitz, glamour and musical innovation.

Providing a musical bridge linking the rebellion and counter culture of the 60s, and the decaglam rockers Sweet are a rock music phenomena who spent over three years in the UK charts, sold over 55 million charts, sold over 55 million records and have had 34 number 1 hits, including their hit Blockbuster. The members of Mud 2 combine their talents to keep the sound and hits of Les Gray alive. Mud found fame in the 1970s when their hit Tiger Feet became the biggest selling single of 1974, the same year that Lonely This Christmas became the Christmas number 1 and their music is as much loved today as it was then.

Alan Williams. known for their hit Sugar Baby Love that spent five weeks at number 1 in the UK and sold 8 million copies worldwide. They had a fur-ther 15 international hits which established them as one of the true icons of 70s

PANTO MAGIC: John Partridge with Sid Sloane and Danny Posthill

Go to the ball with a prize panto ticket

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

The Northants Herald & Post has teamed up with The Royal & Derngate for one lucky reader to win a family ticket (two adults and two children) to the Christmas pantomime Cinderella on Monday, December 28 at 5pm.

Actor, dancer, singer and television presenter John Partridge is heading the cast in in the panto which runsfrom Friday 11 December 2015 to Sunday 3 January 2016. John will be joined by Sid Sloane from CBeebies, plus impressionist Danny Posthill and vocalist Alison Jiear, both fresh from their appearances on this year's Britain's Got Talent.

Playing Buttons will be star impressionist Danny Posthill. Danny started his career at the age of 16 and has gone on to perform all over the world, working around the Mediterranean and South America, plus summer seasons, cabaret dates and on the comedy circuit. Most recently Danny took part in Britain's Got Talent, wowing judges and voting audiences alike.

Packed with all of the traditional Northampton pantomime ingredients audiences have come to expect, Cinderella features stunning scenery, music and dancing, plus Pegasus the amazing flying horse – ensuring the audience will have a ball.

To be in with a chance of winning, answer this question: Which soap opera did John Partridge appear in? Was it: A: Coronation Street B: Hollyoaks or C: EastEnders? tweet your answer to @NorthamptonUK and a lucky winner will be drawn at random. Closing date, November 18.

Tickets from £11 to £29.50 can be booked by calling the box office on 01604 624811 or by visiting www.royaland-derngate.co.uk.

Sink your teeth into a musical ghost train

The all new Vampires Rock – The Ghost Train, comes screaming in to Northampton's Royal & Derngate on Monday, November 16

Monday, November 16.
As Club Live and Let Die burns to the ground, Barron Von Rockula flees the ill-fated club with his band of blood sucking vampires in search of a new home. Eventually they come across an old abandoned fairground ride The Ghost Train, where they take refuge. The barron and his motley crew then set a cunning plan to lure victims into the ride to live in rock 'n' roll hell forever.

Main star Steve Steinman is joined by a full cast of superb singers, dancers and a formidable band who blast their way through some of the greatest ever classic rock anthems, including We Will Rock You, Bat Out of Hell, Sweet Child of Mine and Total Eclipse of the Heart.

Vampires Rock – The Ghost Train blasts onto the Derngate stage on Monday, Anyone making their way to the Derngate this week for a theatrical evening in the company of Kneehigh Theatre's produc-tion of Daphne du Maurier's Rebecca is guaranteed an impressive , energetic and imaginative display of stagecraft. It's a lavish and carnivalesque reading of Daphne du Maurier's gothic 1930s romance. At times the cast don souwesters, picking up mandolins and fid-dles for renditions of Cornish sea shanties, and at others they are thrown into breakneck runaround comic burlesque. all serving to lighten the suspense of a dark and beguiling tale built on inflamed jealousy and country house intrigue. Lots of impressive cut glass accents, dahlings. Stalwart servants and class conscious devil-may-care poshos pick up where Downton leaves off. All the principals are well cast, with relative newcomer Imogen Sage leading the charge as the young Mrs de Winter. But If there was an award for 'scene stealer' for this show it would go without question to Katy Owen who did joint honours in two male parts – the camp and puckish Welsh servant ,Robert and Ben, the Cornish beach waif who is the inadvertent witness to Rebecca's secret moments. No, Mr Bond, I expect you to buy!

WHEN James Bond author Ian Fleming penned his first 007 tale, he could never have imagined the impact his smooth spy would have on the world.

While his books sold well in the 1950s, the first Bond film was a fairly modest affair compared to Spectre's £200m budget: Dr No. with Sean Connery, was put together for $1m in 1962. although it made 20 times that amount in its initial release. Its two follow-ups, From Russia with Love (1963) and Goldfinger (1964) – the year Fleming died – really kicked off Bond-mania.

Fleming wrote the first book, Casino Royale, while living in this imposing building on Cheyne Walk in the early 1950s. The writer is said to have begun writing to distract himself from his forthcoming wedding, and his manuscript was typed out by two women, one of whom was his red-haired secretary reportedly the model for Miss Moneypenny.

The apartment complex is nicknamed Writer's Block because of the many famous authors who've lived in Carlyle Mansions, As well as Fleming, other distinguished literary luminaries include Henry James, T S Eliot and W. Somerset Maugham, who spied for Britain during the First World War.

This top floor flat in a Victorian portered block has been designed and kitted out by Fiona Barratt-Campbell who currently owns it, along with husband, former England and Arsenal player Sol Campbell.

With four bedrooms and three bathrooms, the apartment has great views over the Thames, an entrance hall, reception room. kitchen/dining/living room, study, and utility room and is on the market for £6.495m.

Ideal home for a Labour leader?

LABOUR leader Jeremy Corbyn has taken more flak from newspapers this week for a 2013 video which shows him calling First World War commemorations "pointless" Blasted for his decision not to sing the national anthem during the Battle of Britain memorial service, the proudly white poppy wearing socialist is seen in the two-year-old video adding: "I'm not sure what there is to commemorate about the First World War."

Corbyn isn't the first Labour leader to get grief about his attitude towards conflicts. Britain's first Labour Party prime minister James Ramsay MacDonald, also had a shaky start to his political career thanks to a famously ill-judged that Great Britain was morally pacifist like Corbyn, MacDonald was denounced as a traitor to his class and expelled by the party, but still went on to be the first Labour leader to enter 10 Downing Street in 1929.

A former teacher and journalist from Lossiemouth, Scotland, MacDonald lived here in this seven bedroom, three-storey Grade II listed Georgian property in Hampstead from 1925 until his death in 1935,

On the market for £7.95m, it has a reception hall, large reception room, dining room, kitchen and utility area.

American scriptwriter and refugee from McCarthyism, Donald Ogden Stewart, who wrote The Philadelphia Story and An Affair to Remember, owned the house in the 1950s and 60s when notable visitors included Charlie Chaplin, Katherine Hepburn and Ingrid

Where a celeb snapper shot swinging London

DAVID Bailey? Who's he? So went the popular Olympus TV adverts in the 70s and 80s, as the snapper sent up himself while extolling the virtues of new

And while younger photographers have made their name in the decades since the height of his fame, Bailey is still the best-known British photographer, credited with helping to create the image of Swinging London.

The East End boy shook up photography in the 1960s, with Vogue fashion shoots and portraits of everyone from his former girlfriend Jean Shrimpton to the Kray twins and went onto became as famous as his subjects.

Until recently, Bailey called this loft apartment in Kings Cross home - long before its

Where Posh worked, after a fashion

VICTORIa Beckham's regular rapturous reception on the catwalk signals how the mother-of-four has firmly made the transition from '90s pop star to fashion superstar.

Cheered on by husband David Beckham and her kids from the front row, the former Spice Girl-turned-designer is raking in the cash since launching the company in 2008. In fact, she's so good at it that a business magazine recently named her the UK's top entrepreneur, praising her "finely-tuned business acumen" which helps her fashion brand turn over millions each year.

She's also modest, admitting to The Independent recently that she doesn't actually sketch her own designs and has had no formal training. Instead, Beckham directs a team to create her sought-after minimalist

While she opened her flagship clothes store in London last year, her former design studio in the capital has been converted into two luxury apartments. The three-bedroom flats are on the first floor of a former industrial warehouse in Ransome's Dock in London's Battersea, and one's now up for grabs at £3.5m.

Right next to fellow Brit designer Vivienne Westwood's fashion house, the 2,000sq ft flat has been renovated with no expense spared. It comes complete with swanky furniture. a customised Italian kitchen, and there are nods to the building's industrial past. particularly in the large living space which has polished concrete floors and modern wooden panelling.

Its former resident and health freak would have no doubt approved of one more selling point; a natural spring in the basement which provides a bespoke source of water to the ground floor.

Get excited with Clubman's regenerated new models

Another new chapter has opened in the regeneration of the Mini model family, with the debut of the new Mini Clubman.

Following the success of the reenergised Mini 3-door Hatch and the successful launch of the Mini 5-door Hatch, the new model offers customers a premium vehicle featuring the highest level of

The car's much-loved signature design feature - its split rear doors - are retained, while accessibility and everyday usability are further enhanced thanks to four full-sized side doors. The result-ing car is a powerful fusion of sleek lines, innovative touches and first-rate materials with generous space for five occupants, excellent luggage capacity and classic Mini driving characteris-

With a more mature and sophisticated design, the new Mini Clubman's dimensions are larger than those of the previous generation Mini Clubman. It's also 270 mm longer and 73 mm wider than the Mini 5-door Hatch, with a wheelbase which is 100 mm larg er. The boot has a volume of 360 litres, which can be extended to 1,250 litres by folding the rear seats flat.

SHAPE SHIFTER: The Mini Clubman's dimensions have been increased

The latest generation of Mini TwinPower Turbo Technology engines have been installed under the bonnet, with three units available from launch – the Mini Cooper Clubman, Mini Cooper D Clubman and Mini Cooper S Clubman. CO2 emissions are as low as 109g/km, with fuel economy of up to 68.9mpg.

New to the Mini brand is an 8-speed Steptronic transmission, available as an option on the Mini Cooper S Clubman and the Mini Cooper D Clubman. Exceptional handling comes courtesy of a suspension set-up which is unique to the new Mini Clubman.

Numerous features make their Mini brand debut on the new Clubman, including an electric parking brake, full electric seat adjustment and the optional Mini Yours Interior Styles with backlit door bezels. The new Mini Clubman includes Mini's highly acclaimed Navigation System as standard on all models, exemplifying the high levels of standard equipment across the range. Furthermore, every Mini Clubman also benefits from the Mini Excitement Package as standard, which features a projection of the brand logo on to the ground beneath the driver's side door mirror when the car is opened and closed, as well as extended interior lighting.

With production starting at Mini Plant Oxford later this year, order books for the New Mini Clubman are open at Mini dealers nationwide this week. Pricing for the newest member of the Mini family starts at £19,995 OTR for the Mini Cooper Clubman. Full range pricing and variant information is available below.

The Mini Clubman range starts with the Mini Cooper Clubman priced at £19,995 on-the-road. Prices for the Mini Cooper D Clubman diesel begin at £22,265 on-the-road while the higher performance Mini Cooper S Clubman starts at £22,755

Citroen DS5

Take a look inside...

This DS5 loses its previous Citroen branding and gets a facelift, a revised interior and some efficiency tweaks. Will this be enough to turn round the fortunes of one of the market's most underrated and undiscovered gems?

The car is offered with a choice of no fewer than five powerplants. The most exotic is the Hybrid 4x4, which ditches the old Hybrid4 tag but retains the 200PS diesel hybrid tech. Petrol options include the THP 165, which comes with start-stop technology and is mated to a six-speed automatic transmission.

The gem is the top BlueHDi 180 unit. This auto-only model is able to polish off the sprint to 62mph in 9.2 seconds and keep going to 137mph.

The suspension has been revised to better suit British roads, the stiff springing on early DS5 models having provoked grumbles that the ride quality was never quite as cosseting as many expected from a big Citroen This version gets revised PLV (pre-loaded valve) shock absorb ers to help reduce floatiness at higher speeds.

The styling updates aren't too dramatic, but serve to remind us what a striking-looking car the DS5 really is. The front end introduces some of the styling themes of the DS3 model and the revised grille features a DS logo in place of the traditional Citroen chevron.

The headlights are different too, with xenon and LED options, while the light pods incorporate scrolling indicators. The bonnet panel has also been re-profiled, flowing into a set of chrome 'sa-bres' that run from the tips of the headlights to the front windows.

Overall, the DS5 is nothing like an Audi, BMW or Mercedes and is all the better for it. True, it'll take a while to convince British buyers that a big, French contender is anything other than a hugely speculative punt, but if potential buyers can be persuaded into a test drive, this car is in with a real chance of making sales.

Spinning the DS brand off on its own is an interesting and bold manoeuvre, but we can't see it changing much regarding the way this DS5 is perceived. British buyers are some of the most sceptical customers in the world and they can sniff out a marketing stunt pretty quickly. Do your homework on the running costs, compare what you get for yo money and the DS5 starts to

Nissan JUKE: Folded In Britain

They say the best ideas start with just a blank piece of paper. Celebrating the model's 5th anniversary - and its marketleading sales of over 700,000 -Nissan and a British paper artist have collaborated on a unique project to create a full-scale Origami Juke. In a nod to Nissan's Japanese heritage and inspired by the very first steps of car design – getting ideas onto paper – artist

Owen Gildersleeve hand built the intricate replica model from paper to the exact dimensions of the current Juke. Owen took more than 200 hours and folded more than 2,000 pieces of paper to create the detailed sculpture. The Origami Juke features the same bold design cues - such as the wheel fenders, lights and grille - that give the reallife model its distinctive character.

Volvo Boosts Performance Of Its XC90

Volvo Car UK is enhancing the performance of its award-winning XC90 with a series of Polestar-This is the first time that Polestar, Volvo's performance brand, has diesel and T6 petrol focussed its attention on the new sevenseat SUV. Known as Polestar Performance Optimisation, the upgrades improve the figures of both the D5 Drive-E engines, particularly at medium revs where it's most effective. They also make the accelerator responses even quicker, and alter the settings of the automatic gearbox to provide faster gearchanges and prevent gearshifts during rapid cornering, which could unsettle the car. These quicker and more precise responses to driver commands not only make the driving experience more dynamic, they ensure the car responds predictably during highspeed driving.

Volkswagen In Chattanooga

The Volkswagen Group has reaffirmed its planned investments at the Chattanooga location and in the production of an all-new SUV for the U.S. market. To that end, the company wants to invest US$600 million in the State of Tennessee alone and creating an additional 2,000 jobs in the USA. Production of the new midsize SUV in Chattanooga is scheduled to commence at the end of 2016.

Brackley happy to be in the hat after second-half surge

FA CUP

BRACKLEY TOWN NEWPORT COUNTY

Curtis McDonald may have come away from Brackley Town's 2-2 draw against Newport County in the FA Cup with his name up in lights after his dramatic late equaliser, but he insisted every Saints player was a hero.

The 27-year-old left back earned Brackley a replay with an unstoppable header against his old club in the fifth minute of stoppage time, as the hosts completed a brilliant fightback from 2-0 down in the second half.

It meant the Saints were in the draw for the second round and the National League North side will face Barnet away should they win their replay against the team from League Two next Tuesday. McDonald said: "There were 11 heroes McDonald said: "There were 11 heroes out there today, all of us played exceptionally well.

"Although I got the goal, we worked very hard in the second half to get back in it and to be in the hat for the next round is the main thing."

Newport broke through after 15 minutes after Pablo Mills clumsily bundled over Lenell John-Lewis in the area as the striker was heading away from goal, and the striker picked himself up to score from the negalty spot.

the striket product in the from the penalty spot.
Scot Bennett then doubled the Exiles' lead when the centre back rode what was a decent enough tackle by Luke Graham before going through and finishing neatly into the bottom corner.

But the game was then thrown back into the balance after 59 minutes as Day failed to deal with Glenn Walker's corner, and Graham was able to bundle in from almost right on the goal line.

Time was ticking away and just when all seemed lost, Brackley sent their fans into ecstasy as Tom Winters' deep cross was thumped into the net via a truly fantastic header from McDonald that flew into the goal with almost the final act.

COBBLERS

BY MATT WRIGHT

Lawson D'Ath is thrilled to be back after the winger returned from a three-match suspension in Northampton Town's wonderful FA Cup victory at Coventry City last weekend

City last weekend.

The 22-year-old had to watch from the sidelines for three weeks following his straight red card against Cambridge United for what the referee deemed to be a dangerous tackle.

In helping the Cobblers to shock their League One opponents at the Ricoh Arena, D'Ath made the most of his comeback by putting in a superb cross that led to Marc Richards heading in what proved to be the winner.

D'Ath said: "I was buzzing to be playing again as I had been waiting three weeks for it and to get the assist for the goal felt like a real confidence boost for me.

"It was really frustrating to be out for three weeks because every player wants to play every minute of every game.

"I actually felt frustrated with myself in the game, to be honest. I thought I gave the ball away a few times but's probably because I've been out for three weeks and I missed a week's training.

"I know I can play better, which is always a good thing for a player when people have praised you and you know can do better."

Not surprisingly, D'Ath regrets his sending-off during the only league game Northampton have lost in the last two months, and he made no excuses for it.

He said: "I held my hands up and said sorry to the lads, even though it looked worse than what I intended to do.

"I was intending to commit almost a professional foul and just trip him (Harrison Dunk) up because I thought he was getting away from me and I tried to reach for him, but he was closer than I thought.

"Obviously, I had just given the ball away as well, so there was frustration in the tackle."

Next up for Northampton is a home game against Mansfield, the team directly below them in the League Two table, as the fifth-placed Cobblers look to keep the momentum rolling.

They will in all likelihood have to

They will in all likelihood have to be patient against the Stags, as only league leaders Plymouth have conceded less than their 13 goals in the fourth tier and their defence includes Lee Collins, who joined from Town during the sum-D'Ath said of his former teammate: "Lee's a good player and he'll be tough to break down. It'll be a good duel and hopefully Rico will get the better of him.

"Everyone got on well with Lee while he was here and we know what he can do, he's just a good, solid player and a nice lad, but hopefully we'll destroy him on Saturday."

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED: Northampton's players celebrate at Coventry

Northampton players to be paid by PFA

Northampton Town Football Club revealed its players have had their wages paid in the last week by the Professional Footballers' Association

The Cobblers failed to pay players their wages two weeks ago due to the club's bank account being frozen, after they were hit by a winding up notified by the taymon winding-up petition by the taxman. And with just days to go to repay £166,000 in unpaid taxes to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC) – before the petition is presented at High Court on November 16 – the financial pressure surrounding the club is growing.

So as a result of the financial issues, the PFA – the trade union for professional footballers in England and Wales – have decided to step in and pay the players their wages.

The exact figure of the loan by the PFA has not been released, and is being classed as 'confidential information'.

The players were told their wages were to be deferred the day before their 2-2 draw against Newport County on October 31 and other staff members at the club have also gone unpaid.

Remarkably, the players have managed to put all the off-field issues at Sixfields out of their minds and have gone on an excellent run that has taken them up to fifth in League Two.

Just imagine how far they could go without the financial crisis.

Northampton ready for attack-minded Scarlets

BY MATT WRIGHT

Northampton Saints get their Champions Cup campaign under way this Saturday night and their forwards coach Dorian West is expecting an open contest in their opening match against the Scarlets.

That would be a contrast to the drab affair against the Saracens that gave precious little to excite the 15,000-plus inside Franklin's Gardens as the Saints were ground into the dirt by the Premiership champions.

Glasgow Warriors and Racing 92 are the other two teams Northampton will be up against in Pool Three of European rugby's flagship competition, meaning there really are no easy games.
The Scarlets will provide a stern test as the Welsh region have begun the season well, sitting third in the Pro 12 and can call upon the likes of Jake Ball, Gareth Davies and DTH van der Merwe.

West said: "I think it will be more open than last week. We've seen a lot of the Scarlets and we've played them a few times in recent years so we know that they're a very dangerous team.

'They're prepared to play and they've got exciting backs and a good back row. They'll play from anywhere and they'll cause us a lot of problems, so we need to be really switched on and make sure we're at our best."

Northampton come into the competition off the back of a dis-

GROUND DOWN: Northampton's players weren't given much to celebrate by a resolute Saracens last weekend appointing start to the season that has left them languishing 10th in the Premiership.

If there is one consolation, it is that they have come away from their three defeats with at least a losing bonus point for their efforts and West takes this as a sign that and West takes this as a sign that they're not too far away from turning things around.

He said: "We thought we were good at Sale. We played a lot of good rugby and we felt that we didn't get the rub of the green in that game. It was a really frustrative of the green was a really frustrative of the green was a really frustrative of the green was the way of the green.

pointed with that.

"We worked hard last week and played against a strong Saracens team and it was a close game that could have gone either way.

"We were disappointed with some of the things we did in the match and we thought we could have been better in certain areas and we've worked hard this week

"It's a matter of stepping up, making sure everybody works hard again this week and we give a better performance all-round and hopefully it will be enough to get us the win."

The Saints reached the quarter finals of the Champions Cup last season, where they were thumped by Clermont-Auvergne, and will have to return to their best just to get out of the pool this year.

West said: "It's a difficult competition to win – you've got to be at your best and make sure you've got your best players available as often as possible, You look at some of the teams playing in France with the squad that they've got and some of them are better than

Gardens return fails to blossom into thriller

It's fair to say that this match will not live long in the memory and it's one Northampton Saints will want to put out of their minds after their 12-6 defeat by Saracens last Saturday. The visitors left Saints' fans inside Franklin's

Gardens feeling blue on their last visit as they ended their teams' defence of their title back in May, and the mood was pretty flat again at the final whistle of a game that never fired.

Four Owen Farrell penalties were enough to condemn Northampton to their third defeat in four games this season - not the way they wanted to christen the new Barwell Stand.

They would have wanted to lay down a marker against a team they hope to be challenging for honours with, but they were held at arm's length as Sarries refused to budge.

The Saints did open the scoring in the third minute, as Stephen Myler kicked the first points of the game with a penalty to reward vhat was a bright start.

But Saracens were to turn the game around by half-time thanks to two penalties from Farrell, although the hosts were adamant the first of which should have been reversed after the fly-half retaliated to a late tackle from Tom Wood by shoving him in the face.

The visitors' suffocating game plan was to pay off in the second half as Farrell added pay off in the second half as Farrell added another three points soon after the restart, before his right boot was to effectively take the game away from Northampton with 11 minutes left. The Saintshad to settle for a losing bonus point, secured by JJ Hanrahan's penalty with the final kick of a match that wasn't a great advert for rueby great advert for rugby.

First we had the advantages of the underdog. Now we have the disadvantages of the overdog" – Abba Eben

Wilder is highly proud of Sky Blues sinking

COBBLERS

BY MATT WRIGHT

sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

Northampton Town shocked League One Coventry City in the first round of the FA Cup last weekend and man-ager Chris Wilder is, not surprisingly, still proud of his players' efforts.

The result at the Ricoh Arena, in front of over 2,500 travelling Cobblers fans, has allowed everyone to talk about football again after all the financial issues that have threatened to cripple the Sixfields club.

In truth, it was the continuation of what has been an excellent run on the pitch under Wilder, that has done a lot to raise the spirits of supporters understandably worried about the immediate future.

Now, Northampton are not only in a play-off position in League Two, but also dreaming of making further progress in the Cup after knocking out their former tenants.

Wilder said: "It was a great day for the football club, for the players in the way they went about the game and the way they went about the game from the way they attacked the game from

"We went toe-to-toe against a real good side and showed, at the back end of the game, a real desire to keep the ball out of the back of our net, aided by our magnificent support.

"There were no three points on it, but it was a big game for everybody concerned. It was a fantastic day for everyone and you try to create, at football clubs, days like that."

Northampton found out after the second round draw on Monday night that they will be facing the winners of Boreham Wood or Northwich Victoria at Sixfields in just over three weeks

It represents a wonderful chance for Town to reach the third round and potentially face one of the big names in English football, and a different kind of pressure having been underdogs at Coventry.

Wilder said: "It's roles reversed now, in terms of the challenge that we'll have because we'll be massive favourites to win that game whatever team makes it through.

"We're in good nick on the pitch, we're playing some decent football and most importantly the attitude and desire of the group is absolutely first class for us to get a result whatever the situation.'

The Northampton boss is well aware of how important it is to prevent his players from getting ahead of themselves after such a good run of results.

There shouldn't be too much trouble maintaining focus this weekend as the Cobblers come up against Mansfield Town, the team immediately below them in the table, at Sixfields.

"We know as a staff that we need to we know as a stall that we need to compete and run around and that is what they've done," said Wilder.

"That allows us to get on the ball and try and play and that's a standard thing that we don't ask from the players, we demand from the players."

'Thank you Lancaster' says Brookes

SAINTS

Northampton Saints prop Kieran Brookes gave his thanks to Stuart Lancaster, who resigned from his position as England head coach on Wednesday, following a disappointing Rugby World Cup.

Brookes was one of many players to be given his international debut by Lancaster after the 25-year-old made his bow against the might of New Zealand in June 2014

He has now won 15 caps for his country and made three appear-ances as a replacement during the World Cup as England became the first host nation to fail to make it out of their pool.

Brookes said: "I'm thankful that Stuart gave me my chance with England. I've always had a good relationship with him and I wish him well in the future.

"It's been a tough World Cup for everyone and he's taken the brunt of it. The decision obviously had nothing to do with me, but it was tough on him."

Despite the Saints' indifferent start to the season, Brookes has settled in quite quickly into their front row following his summer move from Newcastle Falcons. He was part of a Northampton scrum that functioned well against Saracens at Franklin's Gardens last week, but it wasn't enough to prevent the visitors from running out 12-6 winners.

When asked about his own form so far, Brookes said: "I'm not satisfied with my form because I don't think any player ever is and there's a lot to work on.

"But I'm working week in week out with Dylan (Hartley) and the likes of Alex Corbisiero and Alex Waller and there's always room for improvement, I think."

Very Happy Customers

Sharniee Duggan, 29th Sep 2015

I would just like to say a massive thank you to your guy who was working at your station today! had worked a long night shift and with little cash and a newly broken bank card I was stranded for 3 hours and was strugling to get myself home. Not only was he really undersdtanidng and sympathetic, but he gave me the remaining £3 that i needed to get myself home. He absolutely saved my day and I couldn't thank him enough. Brilliant service and would always recomend your services to family and friends.
